

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

The research study is concluded with conclusions and recommendations after having presented the narratives and discussions in the previous chapter. The conclusion and recommendations were offered in this chapter. The conclusion was derived from the research questions, and the suggestions provided some ideas addressed English teachers and suggested more research on the role teachers experience in the teaching and learning process.

A. Conclusions

This research is aimed at describing how I taught vocabulary to children by using flashcards as the medium. Also, describe my thoughts on teaching children vocabulary. Based on these objectives, the following presents the conclusions of the research.

1. The first result shows that these are some of my experiences in teaching calistung for children that are important in constructing an understanding of my students in reading, writing, and math.
2. The second result is the medium that I used in teaching. I used flashcards as the medium to teach vocabulary to children. The use of flashcard media in teaching vocabulary for children has an influence on children's learning outcomes, such as increasing children's vocabulary. Children can learn happily and enthusiastically because this media is easy and interesting. So it is suitable for children. In addition, children understand better when given pictures or images, and they will immediately respond well. Flashcards make it easier for children to remember English-Indonesian vocabulary, and when they are reviewed using flashcards without showing the meaning of English, they can easily answer them.
3. Thirdly, I realized that my experience in teaching may not be optimal. But from my experience, a lesson or reference can be taken from others or myself regarding the use of flashcard media in teaching vocabulary to children. Because I have also included other people's experiences when teaching using the same media.

B. Recommendations

From the narratives and discussions above, some suggestions that can be taken into a consideration for teachers and students.

1. For Teacher

It is suggested that the teacher use creative media in the teaching and learning process to comfort the students and help in vocabulary learning. To catch students' interest, teachers suggested offering flashcards with interesting images. To make vocabulary learning more enjoyable, teachers also recommended combining vocabulary games with flashcard-based learning.

2. For Students

In the learning process, students must contribute and participate. Students must pay attention and follow the direction given by the teacher and actively participate in class learning. So, students can receive knowledge and lessons that have been given by the teacher.

3. For Next Researcher

I hoped that the next researcher interested in using flashcards to teach children would learn deeper about the subject and expand on this research. Because there are still shortcomings due to the lack of knowledge by the researcher. So criticism and suggestions as an evaluation for the researcher.
